

MHT Lighting, Inc. induction lighting products conform to the Buy American mandate of Section 1605 of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 ("ARRA").

MHT Lighting, Inc. is in compliance with the Buy American provisions of the ARRA for purposes of bidding and supplying "Buy American" products on public works contracts with municipalities in the United States.

MHT has a 55,000 square foot state-of-the-art manufacturing facility in the United States for induction light manufacturing and assembly lines capable of manufacturing 8,000- 25,000 products per week. Currently, MHT's facility is devoted to manufacturing, the assembly line process, engineering, testing, inspection, customizing and general business operations. MHT currently has 16 workers per assembly line and all workers make at least minimum wage. The entire fixture housing for the product concerned is assembled in the US-based manufacturing facility, and the fastening hardware, custom parts, wire supplies, controls, coatings, packaging and shipping cartons are purchased in the USA and supply many jobs for American workers. MHT also employs electrical engineers who test(s) and review(s) the product for quality control.

In addition, MHT's ISO 9000/01 certification includes step by step procedures for manufacturing and testing to ensure quality and long life.

Based on the facts, MHT is confirmed in compliance with the "Buy American" provisions of the ARRA Section 1605 for purposes of bidding and supplying products on public works contracts with municipalities in the United States.
